Newberry Play Well Received

"Wild Oats," Perry Newberry's three-act comedy, "just for fun," had its premiere last night at Arts and Crafts Theater.

The large audience which attended the performance came away with the feeling that they had got their money's worth in entertainment. While the play itself, taken all in all, is nothing but a bit of nonsense, it may be said that the offering showed evidence of thorough rehearsing—something that has frequently been conspicuous by its absence.

A more extended notice will be published next week. Tonight the show goes on again. If you haven't been there don't miss it.

Here's the cast:

Bill Brent, a prizefight promoter—Charles Berkey.

Fred Jones, a modern youth—Jack Flanner.

Battling Gregg, prizefighter—Frank Berkey.

Reginald Varden-Jones—Andrew Jacobsen.

Lorraine Jones, poet and dramatist—Georgia Sally White.

Mrs. Clara Forbes, once the famous Elsie Lindsay—

Miss Mary Forbes, now the famous Elsie Lindsay—Frances Glassell.

Louise, Elsie Lindsay's French maid—Tilly Polak.

Alice, the Varden-Jones menial—Helen Judson.

Mrs. Reginald Varden-Jones—Daisy Bostick.

Village constable—Rich'd Hoagland.

A. & C. Informals to Begin Monday

The Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts will initiate its winter program of informal entertainments and social gatherings next Monday evening at eight o'clock.

After the transaction of any necessary business, the evening will be in the hands of Dr. Alfred E. Burton, who has been pursuaded to give his talk, "Tramps in Unknown Switzerland, illustrated by personal sketches. Dr. Burton spent six summers wandering afoot through unfrequented parts of Switzerland. This genial and informal account he first prepared as a talk for the Technology Club of Boston twenty years ago. With the kindly assistance of Geo. F. Beardsley, he will show his sketches as lantern slides.

After the talk members will gather about the fire for a friendly hour, and light refreshments will be served. All new members are especially urged to attend in order to give old members an opportunity to meet and welcome them. New ideas, suggestions that may be in the back of anyones mind for the benefit of the organization, will be gladly listened to Every member is begged, urged, earnestly besought, to help furnish the china closet of the club by bringing on Monday night a cup and a plate that he or she is willing to bestow as an evidence of good will. Steal them from your own shelves—cups with handles preferred—eat and drink from them by the friendly fire, and when you go home leave it as your gift to your club, and thereby make glad the hearts of the entertainment committee.

Guests at El Monte Verde for some time are Mrs. W. B. McCracken and her daughter, Miss Madeline. They lost their home in the Berkeley fire.

Pacific Grove-Carmel Lateral Considered by Supervisors--- Board of Viewers is Appointed

The proposition to build a Pacific Grove-Carmel direct road through the Del Monte forest, between the city limits of both municipalitjes, is in a state of suspended animation.

Last Friday night's local mass meeting, called to order by Perry Newberry, presided over by John B. Jordan, attended by about fifty Grovites and fifteen Carmelitees, developed plenty of enthusiasm for the project from a Pacific Grove standpoint; very little on the part of Carmel.

The meeting was amiable and instructive, bringing out how necessary to the expansion of Pacific Grove and the Monterey Peninsula was this direct road. One of the advantages to Carmel set forth by a local speaker was the co-operation of the fire departments of the two cities.

The local gathering adjourned without the passing of a resolution for or against the project, and without the appointment or election of Carmel delegates to last Monday afternoon's meeting of the county board of supervisors.

The last mentioned meeting was an interesting one. Three hundred and fifty Grove residents, led by a brass band, enthusiastically invaded the court house. There were four Carmel residents present and a handful of Monterey and Del Monte people.

The crowd was too large to be accommodated in the supervisors' meeting room, so the meeting was held in the superior court room.

The remarkable thing about the whole affair, and one that was of immense satisfaction to the people who reside over near Asilomar, was that not a single individual is opposed to the proposed road.

The Del Monte Properties Company, the Monterey Chamber of Commerce, individuals from Carmel and Monterey, Supervisor Roberts and his associates on the board, are for the road, whether it costs $35,000 or $50,000—but not just now.

The county money for this year is all budgeted. Next September a new budget will be made, and if at that time it can be demonstrated that the project is practical and necessary and advisable, the supervisors will make a tax levy to finance the construction of the road.

County Engineer Howard Cozzens, Edward G. Hatton of Carmel and William Lambert of Jamesburg were appointed a board of viewers to report and compile all the facts and figures in the matter.

Chamber of Commerce Elects New Officers

The annual meeting of the Carmel Chamber of Commerce was held on Thursday evening at the city hall.

Before proceeding to the election of officers for the ensuing year the secretary's annual report was read.

The volume of details and correspondence handled by the secretary, disclosed by the report, was what determined the members to continue the organization, notwithstanding the apparent lack of interest.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Byron G. Newell; vice-president, Walter M. Basham; secretary-treasurer, Peter Mawdsley.

The retiring officers and all the members present will energetically support the new administration.

Old Pixley Home Destroyed by Fire

One of the first attractive homes built in Pebble Beach, at the time when the old lodge was standing, was completely destroyed by fire last Saturday morning.

The Frank Pixley house was built by M. J. Murphy of this city from designs made by Mr. and Mrs. Pixley. It was a beautiful structure. The exterior was nothing remarkable, but the interior was wonderful, with its large, high-ceiling, living room and galleries. Off the galleries were the expensively furnished special rooms—a Chinese room, a blue room, a red room, etc.

Some years ago, after the death of Frank Pixley, author of "King Dodo," "Prince of Pilson" and other musical comedies, the property was bought by Charles Piers, general manager of the Hale Brothers in San Francisco.

The loss is partly covered by insurance, but some of the things destroyed can never be replaced. The Pixleys and the Piers had gathered objects from the four corners of the earth to enrich the house.

Mr. Piers was here last Sunday and gazed wistfully at the ruins. It is possible he will rebuild.

Series of Lectures in Carmel Church

With last Sunday evening's illustrated lecture, "Florence and Her Art," began the presentation in the Carmel Church of a series of twelve Sunday lectures on popular themes, educational and entertaining.

Among the topics will be "The Sea at Work," "Ben Hur," "Rome," "Last Days of Pompeii," "The Human Body," "Nature's Wonders," "Florence."

It has been decided to make no admission charge, the ordinary collection being sufficient to pay expenses. The lectures should be well attended.

Summer Visitor Dead

Acton A. Hall, president of the Ohio Marble Co., passed away at his home in Pequa, Ohio, on Wednesday, December 26, after a long illness. While here with his family last year Mr. Hall purchased the Whitney residence on Ocean avenue and had planned to return this year.

The deceased was 63 years of age. He was a Mason, an Elk and a Rotarian. His father was Joseph Hall, originator and manufacturer of the Hall safe. His wife, a daughter and son survive him.

City Zoning Problem

The city board of trustees will meet next Tuesday night. The most important business to be transacted has to do with the second and final reading of the zoning ordinance. In order that the public may familiarize itself with the provisions of this ordinance copies have been placed in the offices of the Carmel Realty Co., C. C. Hogle, the Pine Cone and at the city hall.

THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA AND PROPOSED ZONING ORDINANCE

ORDINANCE NO. 54—

A zoning ordinance for the City of Carmel, has had one reading before the Board of Trustees, and at the second reading, if passed, the ordinance becomes a law binding the people of Carmel to its terms and the trustees to the enforcement of those terms. The next meeting of the Board of Trustees is an important meeting to all citizens of Carmel.

Ordinance 54 establishes three zones, designated as follows:

First, business.

Second, hotel and apartment.

Third, residential zone.

There is nothing in the ordinance to prevent a livery stable from being established in the business zone except the possibility that a livery stable might at some future time become a nuisance there. This, in the face of the fact that a livery stable already established within the limits of this zone is at the present time a source of much annoyance on account of the flies and odors arising therefrom.

On the other hand there is no provision made for the proper housing and maintaining of Carmel's justly popular riding schools, which are throughout the year a source of health and joy to many young people. A site for such a school, consisting of ten lots in Block 38, north of Ocean avenue and east of Junipero, in a section of the city where as yet no residences are apparent, was rejected by the City Planning Committee as being outside of the business zone and a part of the residential zone. Block 78 is excluded from the business zone, although the owner was obliged to pay for the paving of a business street, and a loan has been placed upon the property to pay for the expensive paving in front of her property, and although by the growth of business along this paved street her property facing on Ocean avenue has been rendered useless for anything but business purposes.

The section of this ordinance which does away with the right of any property owner to build upon a lot having only twenty-five feet frontage and one hundred feet depth, in the residential zone, practically amounts to confiscation of property. There are nineteen blocks in the resinential zone, as proposed, along Junipero street and along Ocean avenue, where twenty-five foot lots have been sold as laid down in the official map of Carmel, and where the unlucky owners of single lots will suffer taxation without benefit unless the ordinance is amended or the courts come to their relief. These lots were laid out for business, and there is little doubt that business will eventually reach them.

Then there is the question of how far we are benefiting our city by crowding our hotels into an already congested district. Practically no unoccupied hotel site remains in the zone alloted to hotels.

The land at the foot of Ocean avenue, facing the sea from San Antonio, has for years been held as the most suitable site for a hotel of the right sort. One that would provide attractive clubrooms for artists of world renown and satisfactory accommodations for beauty-loving guests from every part of the world. That property was sold to the present owner for a hotel site. Plans for a beautiful building of the Mission type are almost completed.

Now comes Ordinance 54 with "Thou shalt not", written all over it. Why? Because the idea is to crowd our hotels all into a restricted district, with a view—it would seem—of reducing their number as far as possible.

But what if Santa Barbara and San Diego had done this? Where would the beauty of those cities be? The zoning idea is all right, but it needs the co-operation of the people to make it lasting and satisfactory. It isn't too late yet to co-operate with the trustees and the members of the planning committee to avoid lawsuits and more and more wilful waste of time and money by securing NOW a satisfactory zoning ordinance.

Ordinance 54 needs our friendly consideration; its good points are apparent and its objectionable points can be amended. Read it not once, but twice, and then attend the next meeting of the Board of Trustees, on Tuesday evening, January 15th, not to oppose, but to assist in the making of a fair zoning ordinance for Carmel.

MAUD ISABEL HOGLE.

AN INTELLIGENT VOTE DESIRED

The Pine Cone is publishing in this issue a digest of the Bok Peace Plan award, selected from 22,165 plans submitted. It is the hope of policy committee that it will be thoroughly read and considered without political or other bias, to the end that an intelligent nation-wide vote on the merits and practicability of the plan may be registered.

A ballot is also published, which it is requested be forwarded to New York headquarters after thoroughly and conscientiously considering the matter.

In order that the vote be upon the merits of the plan only, it has been deemed advisable not to make known the authorship of the winning plan until after the referendum.

Copies of the complete plan may be obtained at the Pine Cone office.

If you are genuinely interested in world peace, if you hate war, if you agree that "It shall not be again," you will give serious attention to this matter.

Editor's Residence Nearly Destroyed

The one-story frame residence of Allen Griffin, publisher of the Peninsula Herald, at Camino and Eleventh avenue, in this city, gave the fire department quite a battle last Sunday afternoon. The frame is still standing, but the interior was badly gutted, smoked and burned. The contents of the house—furniture, books, clothing—was almost completely destroyed.

It is thought the fire started from an electric iron left burning when the Griffins started for San Jose early Sunday morning.

The house and contents were fully insured.

The members of the Carmel Boys' Club deposited in savings banks during 1923 the sum of $945. This money belongs to the individual boys and the club has nothing to do with it, except to teach thrift.

Will Conform to Wishes of Deceased

The following letter, read at the last meeting of the city trustees, will be of interest to those who signed a petition recently requesting that C. Sumner Green be considered in the naming of an architect for the new library:

December 24, 1923.

Wm. T. Kibbler, Esq.,
President Board of Trustees,
Carmel-by-the-Sea,
Monterey County, Calif.

Dear Sir: We have examined the revised plans recently prepared by Mr. Jo Mora for the Ralph Chandler Harrison Memorial Library, which we are returning to you by this mail, and have noted that the suggestions discussed at our conference with yourself, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Mora and Mr. Anthony on December 8 in this city have been incorporated in the plans as revised.

We believe that a library building constructed in accordance with these revised plans will conform to what Mrs. Ella Reid Harrison would have desired if she had lived to see it, will serve to carry out her wishes as regards the structure, appearance, and arrangement of the building, assuming that it can be completed at a cost not exceeding the amount of the fund available for the purpose, leaving sufficient cash to be applied to necessary equipment.

Yours truly,
KATHARINE E. CONWAY,
ROBERT W. HARRISON,
RICHARD C. HARRISON,
Executors.

Humane Society Holds Meeting at Pine Inn

At Wednesdays' meeting of the Carmel branch of the Monterey county humane society gratitude was expressed for the very generous response by Carmel friends to the children's Christmas party. Special thanks were voted to H. E. Rogers, who donated hours of service in lighting and trimming the tree.

The society spent the rest of the afternoon discussing how it may best help support the animal shelter soon to be opened in Monterey.

The Monterey city authorities have drawn up an ordinance in regard to licensing and impounding dogs.

The result of action upon this ordinance is of special intent to the humane society.

Achieves Literary Success

The friends of Lawrence S. Morris, who spent six months of last year in Carmel, will be pleased to learn of his literary success.

On leaving here Mr. Morris took berth on a United States vessel to the Orient. He made two trips to China and then went through the Panama Canal to New York as a seaman, and has been putting his experiences to account in articles and short stories which have been published in The Freeman.

Edward O'Brien has chosen "A Night in Port" by Mr. Morris for publication in his "Best Short Stories of 1923." A double star is also given the story. Few stories in O'Brien's collection are honored with triple stars. Recent numbers of The Freeman contain book reviews by Mr. Morris.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS

Logic of a Brilliant Radical

Bertrand Russell is one of those brilliant radicals whose knowledge is so wide, whose intelligence so keen, whose power not only of delightfully presenting fact and argument but of suggesting the most interesting and stimulating thought is so great, that he is widely read even by those who totally disagree with all of the conclusions he draws with such amazing certainty of logic. In "The Prospects of Industrial Civilization," which is written in collaboration with Dora Russell, the authors are particularly startling, provocative, and probably, if the reader be at all radical, uncommonly convincing. Its pages are rich with quotable matter. It is a book which discusses the near future of a world in vast disorder.

Something About Herbert Quick

Born on a farm near Steamboat Rock, Grundy county, Iowa; attended country schools; engaged in teaching; became principal of ward school in Mason City, Iowa, and meantime studying law; admitted to Iowa bar; engaged in practice at Sioux City; editor of [illegible] Ohio; member and counsel for Citizens' committee in Sioux City and in that capacity prosecuted boodlers; thrice nominated for mayor of Sioux City and once elected; nominee for supreme judge; member Federal Farm Loan bureau, 1916-1919; in 1920 was chairman of committee in charge of affairs in the Far East, American Red Cross (rank of colonel).

Author of "In the Fairyland of America," "Aladdin & Co.," "Double Trouble," "The Broken Lance," "American Inland Waterways," "Virginia of the Air Lanes," "Yellowstone Nights," "On Board the Good Ship Earth," "From War to Peace," "The Fairview Idea," "Vandemark's Folly" (serial in Ladies' Home Journal) and of many articles and stories in the Saturday Evening Post, Country Gentleman and other magazines. Perhaps We Are Not Jazzy Enough

Why are so many of the novels and movies written nowadays set in the dim and distant past when heroes wore ten-gallon hats and heroines were not permitted to show their ankles?

Answer by Mrs. Inez Hayes Irwin, wife of Will Irwin, novelist and war correspondent: "Because it is so hard to account for the life of every character during the years of the war."

Speaking before a meeting of the National Women's party, Mrs. Irwin commented upon the post-war reaction which has manifested itself in nearly all fields of thought.

"I mark constantly in my own profession, which is that of an author of fiction," Mrs. Irwin said, "how this tendency shows itself.

"A great interest has suddenly manifested itself, for instance, all through the reading public in the past of American history. Perhaps some of you have seen Emerson Hough's film, "The Covered Wagon," and perhaps you have noted how thrilled audiences are by it.

"It perhaps helps in this tendency of writers to go back into the past that almost any book of fiction of contemporary life which is not of the very instant has to account for the life of every character during the years of the war. This is a technical difficulty, the irritations of which a layman can thoroughly understand."

Disillusionment

Harry Hervey, author of "The Black Parrot," had an adventure of an unusual sort while in Cairo on his recent journey to the Far East. He induced some American women who had secured permission to visit the ladies of a rich merchant's harem to include him in their party. They arrayed him suitably as a fair damsel, but his feet stuck out sturdily and blatantly masculine, and Mr. Hervey is far from sure that his disguise remained unpenetrated. However, he drank sweet, syrup-y coffee, chatted, and escaped alive, with far more thrill from his potentially dangerous [illegible] than was inherent in the adventure itself. Harem beauties are hot all they are cracked up to be—at least to Western eyes.

"Do Rats Talk to Each Other?" Asks Mr. M. Batty, R. I.

"I got five cakes of Rat-Snap and threw pieces around feed store. Got about half a dozen dead rats a day for two solid weeks. Suddenly, they got fewer. Now we haven't any. Who told them about Rat-Snap.". Rats dry up and leave no smell. Three sizes: 35c, 65c, $1.25.

$100,000 PEACE PLAN PRIZE AWARDED

Advocates Entering World Court and Cooperation With League Without Full Membership at Present—Suggests League Membership Be Opened to All Nations and Provides for Development of International Law.

The American Peace Award brought forth 22,165 plans and many thousands of letters. Since many of the plans were the composite work of organizations, universities, etc., a single plan often represented the views of hundreds or thousands of individuals. The content of these plans is therefore an index of the true feeling and judgment of hundreds of thousands of American citizens.

These plans come from every group in American life. Some are obviously from lifelong students of history and international law. Some are from persons who have studied little, but who have themselves seen and felt the horror of war—or who are even now

But among them all are these dominant currents: that, if war is honestly to be prevented, there must be a face-about on the part of the nations in their attitude toward it; that by some progressive agreement the manufacture and purchase of the munitions of war must be limited or stopped; that while no political mechanism alone will insure cooperation among the nations, there must be some machinery of cooperation if the tive; that mutual counsel among the nations is the real hope for bringing about the disavowal of war by the open avowal of its real causes and open discussion of them; and finally that there must be some means of defining, recording, interpreting and developing the law of nations.

Statement of Jury of Award

The Jury of Award realizes that there is no one approach to world peace, and that it is necessary to recognize not merely political but also psychological and economic factors. The only possible pathway to international agreement with reference to these complicated and difficult factors is through mutual counsel and cooperation which the plan selected contemplates. It is therefore the unanimous opinion of the Jury that of the [illegible] Number 1462 is "the best practicable plan by which the United States may co-operate with other nations to achieve and preserve the peace of the world."

It is the unanimous hope of the Jury that the first fruit of the mutual counsel and cooperation [illegible] nations which will result from the adoption of the plan selected will be a general prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all materials of war.

The Question to Be Voted Upon

The substantial provisions which constitute the plan selected by the Jury of Award, and upon which the vote of the American people is asked, are hereby submitted by the Policy Committee as follows:

I. ENTER THE PERMANENT COURT

That the United States adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice for the reasons and under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

II. COOPERATE WITH THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS, WITHOUT FULL MEMBERSHIP AT PRESENT

That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States Government should extend its present cooperation with the League and propose participation in the work of its Assembly and Council under the following conditions and reservations:

Safeguarding of Monroe Doctrine

1. The United States accepts the League of Nations as an instrument of mutual counsel, but it will assume no obligation to interfere with political questions of policy or internal administration of any foreign state.

   In uniting its efforts with those of other States for the preservation of peace and the promotion of the common welfare, the United States insists upon the safeguarding of the Monroe Doctrine and does not abandon its traditional attitude concerning American independence of the Old World and does not consent to submit its long established policy concerning questions regarded by it as purely American to the recommendation or decision of other Powers.

No Military or Economic Force

2. [illegible] to apply to each other in the name of Peace is that which arises from conference, from moral judgment, from full publicity, and from the power of public opinion.

   The United States would assume no obligations under Article X in its present form, or under Article XVI in its present form in the Covenant, or in its amended form as now proposed, unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

   [illegible] dropped altogether or so amended and changed as to eliminate any suggestion of a general agreement to use coercion for obtaining conformity to the pledges of the Covenant.

No Obligation Under Versailles Treaty

3. That the United States will accept no responsibilities under the Treaty of Versailles unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

League Open to All Nations

4. The United States Government proposes that Article I of the Covenant be construed and applied, or, if necessary, redrafted, so that admission to the League shall be assured to any self-governing State that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the Assembly.

Development of International Law

5. As a condition of its participation in the work and counsels of the League, the United States asks that the Assembly and Council consent—or obtain authority—to begin collaboration for the revision and development of international law, employing for this purpose the aid of a commission of jurists. This Commission would be directed to formulate anew existing rules of the law of nations, to reconcile divergent opinions, to consider points hitherto inadequately provided for but vital to the maintenance of international justice, and in general to define the social rights and duties of States. The recommendations of the Commission would be presented from time to time, in proper form for consideration, to the Assembly as to a recommending if not a law-making body.

St. Anne's Guild will meet at 3 p. m. next Tuesday in the home of Mrs. P. A. Prince, Camino Real and 11th.
